BACKGROUND

We believe people are at the heart of every community, including businesses. When you feel that you belong, have a purpose, feel connected, and are healthy, you will succeed and flourish both personally and professionally. Wellbeing has risen in the ranks of importance within the workplace, and even more so in recent years. The wellbeing of all members is key to a healthy relationship where everyone is felt valued and supported. With staff turnover being at an all-time high, it's imperative that you attract and retain talented team members. If you'd like to make meaningful changes within your workplace and show that you care about your team, we're here to help.

FEEDBACK...

"I thoroughly recommend this training if you already work with new families and want to offer them continued positive support."

"The 2 day training course was fantastic and I could not wait to get started with my teaching, I had learned all the skills necessary to confidently teach the course and knew that Kate or Caroline were at the end of the phone if I needed any support."

"I thoroughly enjoyed teaching the course and now that I am qualified, I will be adding it to my class schedule."

"As soon as I received the information about the Wellbeing for Mothers and Babies course I knew it was exactly the course I had been looking for to compliment the other courses that I deliver."
